

Wooden kitchen

1
Circulation and program are defined through a centrally located vertical core. This core contains a central stair which extends to the roof. Circulation and program are defined through a centrally located vertical core. This core contains a central stair which extends to the roof.

Proyecto arquitectónico: Boyarsky
Murphy Architects
Ubicación: Elgin Avenue,
Londres, Reino Unido
Fecha de construcción:
septiembre 2006
Fotografía: Helene Binet

01

Circulation and program are defined through a centrally located vertical core. This core contains a central stair which extends to the roof.

